

Injection Techniques & Battlefield Acupuncture

This spring, the AACCP presents a hands-on training course where you can learn cutting-edge injection techniques for the therapeutic treatment of patients who want to feel better and look better. After participating in this dynamic two-day course, you'll return to your practice prepared to introduce procedures that will immediately grow your bottom line! But you must act quickly – registration is strictly limited in order to preserve a sound faculty-student ratio.

A stellar faculty has been assembled to provide you with a rare opportunity to learn both the background didactic and hands-on application of these vital skills for the treatment of chronic facial pain, TMD, headaches and neuropathic pain. The three main course instructors and program developers are Dr. Ronald Auvenshine, who will provide all anatomical training; and Drs. Jeff McCarty and Jeanne K. Bailey, who will oversee the injection and practical skills portion of the course.

As a bonus, we have added a half-day program focusing on battlefield acupuncture. You will learn the history of acupuncture and current theories of how battlefield acupuncture works. Then you will learn to recognize conditions which battlefield
